cWritten from? The writer refers to an article in the Spectator about the treatment of Fenian prisoners in English jails. Criticizes England for its failure to punish such men as Gov. To Whom?

c ? . The writer discourses on the relation of Ireland to England. "Ireland is better in union with England than she would be alone." Thinks "England as a nation is quite as selfish & insolent as any other." But the writer admits; "We are a nation of bigots, Catholic & Protestant much alike." The writer comments on American poetry. "Whittier gives me greater pleasure, some bits of Lowell more intense delight, Longfellow pleases me more from his music than from his thoughts, Bryant from his depth. But I enjoy Whittier exceedingly ... I think he will continue to enjoy greater popularity in America than the other three." The writer cannot "make head or tail" of Lowell's Central. Tells about Miss (Mary) Estlin's being "head & ears" of public work." Comments "she is a real worthy, although ... she has some peculiarities. She • Rookledge: "We were all made glad by the Thanksgiving visit of George ... We fortunately had Mrs. Wright and one of her granddaughters with us, so that we made a goodly company." Little Helen Villard is sick. Harold Villard will be one year old on Dec.3. The monument to H. C. Wright has been erected by Photius Fisk. Refers to the spirit message from H. C. W. pointing out his burial place. Thinks W. Phillips is doing badly in his attempt to become a political leader. W. L.G. had an article on third party organizations in the last Independent.

«Dublin (Ireland)». Mrs. May (wife of Samuel May, jr.) sails today from Queenstown. "She is a charming woman." Mrs. May spent a week at the writer's house, and did her shopping with his daughter and sister-in-law. The writer does not doubt that Mr. May will do a good biography of his cousin Samuel Joseph May. Praises S.J. May and notes that he made few enemies. Tells of communistic trends envisaged by a "deep thinking" friend; the writer, being "less philosophical and more cheerful," expects things to "go on pretty much as they have done heretofore." The writer was shocked by the "terrible Revere railway collision in which so many were scalded to death." Dr. Ezra (Stiles) Cannet lost his life. William Lloyd Garrison, Jr. was terribly scalded about the head and hands. He is married to a niece of Lucretia Mott. The Villards are Roxbury, (Mass.). Says he can't attend the woman suffrage meeting at Philadelphia next week, because he has to prepare "a sketch of the anti-slavery labors of Samuel J. "I had seen and analysed the poetical effusion of T. T. Theodore Tilton, in The Golden Age, which you sent to William." Thinks that T. T. referred to his wife in the fourth stanza. Mentions "a growing estrangement" between T. T. and C. Johnson. Tilton "almost sneered at" an article by Johnson in The Revolution. Hopes that W. P. G. likes the present location of The Nation. G. T. Garrison seems to do "a good deal of work for a very small remuneration" in the box manufacturing business. The W. L.

«Roxbury, (Mass.). Mrs. G. has been ill with a bronchial infection. "Dr. Geist still attends her." She suffers severely from mental depression, because her friends have not visited her "and Miss «Ellen« Dow is not congenial companionship." Notes that T. Tilton charges him with criticising Wendell Phillips "because he was in favor of prolonging the existence of the American A. S. Society." Refers to a gift of a tea-set to Mrs. W. P. G. Says that W. P. G. should have allowed W. L. Garrison Jr. to cancel W. P. G.'s promissory note. W. L. G. Jr. says he will write to the addressee when his hand gets better.

Roxbury, (Mass.). Has finished correcting the manuscript sent to him by the addressee. "I had always supposed that I was born Dec.10, 1804, but the town records make my advent Dec.12 of that year ... In one or two instances, elsewhere, I have been mistakenly assigned to the year 1805." Feels that he "enunciated & applied old truths about Slavery, with 'peculiar force.'" Doesn't think H. W. does "entire justice" to the Garrisonian Abolitionists, who had to endure the persecution of the Church. Tells about the election of Abby Kelly and the resulting division in Anti-Slavery ranks, which led to the formation of the American & Foreign Anti-Slavery Society.
